IAAP Member Benefits

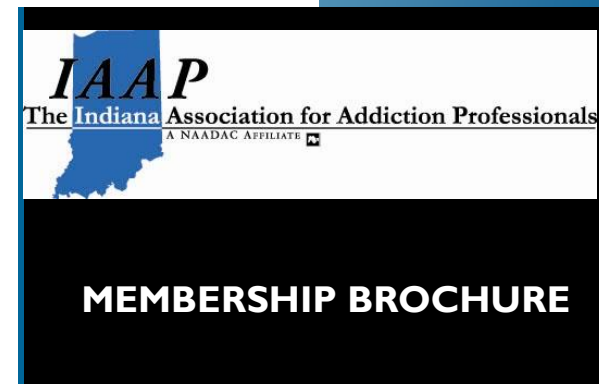

- Substantially reduced rates for professional certification and re-certification as ICAC I or ICAC II. Please note that certification is not included in membership, but is a separate process. Certification is not a requirement of membership in IAAP.
- New avenues for job opportunities and advancement with higher levels of certification.
- Assistance with referrals concerning ethical or legal questions or complaints and two free hours of help on a Legal Assistance Hotline provided by NAADAC's liability company.
- Free subscription to NAADAC's official magazine, Addiction Professional, which is published six times annually.
- Peer support and network opportunities through state conferences and workshops.
- Reduced rates for IAAP Spring and Fall Conferences and NAADAC National Meeting.
- Reduced rates for continuing education units including the qualification course for the U.S. Department of Transportation's Substance Abuse Professional.
- Reduced rates for publications such as The Basics of Addiction Counseling: A Desk Reference Study Guide, used by experienced professionals and as a guidebook for preparation for certification exams.
- Access to NAADAC News, the association publication only available to NAADAC members.

Benefits of becoming a NAADAC Member through IAAP

An influential voice in Washington

NAADAC is an influential and effective voice for addiction professionals before Congress and the Administration in Washington DC on such issues as:

- Ending discrimination in health insurance plans for addiction treatment.
- Charging managed care requirements on length of stay and re-admissions.
- Securing federal funding for state substance abuse treatment and preventive services.
- Enhancing the professional development and rewards for addiction services professionals.

NAADAC is working for you

NAADAC is the largest membership organization in the United States exclusively dedicated to the legislative occupational and educational priorities of addiction services professionals. On behalf of its 11,000 members NAADAC helps shape the nations attitudes and beliefs about addiction services. NAADAC provides up to date research and information on the status of policy affecting your profession through:

- NAADAC website, www.naadac.org
- The bi-monthly publication, NAADAC news
- NAADAC's Legislative Network
- Use of NAADAC's online Advocacy Action Center to contact national leaders.

Liability Insurance

The services you provide your clients are crucial to many people. Protecting yourself is just as crucial to you. NAADAC provides its members access to the most affordable and comprehensive professional liability insurance coverage available with no deductibles through NAADAC's discounted group rate policy. Our policy is custom designed especially for alcoholism and drug abuse counselors.

The policy insures you for life—even if you change employers or stop working, as long as the covered incidents occur while the policy is in effect. A low annual premium (which varies by state) covers professional services up to $1 million per incident with a $3 million annual aggregate.

Code of Ethics

All NAADAC members agree to affirm the NAADAC code of ethical practice. The code avows autonomy, objectivity and justice as well as non-discrimination based on race, religion, age, gender, or economic condition. It stresses respect and protection of the welfare of patients. The code is meant to safeguard the integrity of the counseling relationship. It encourages members to actively engage in the legislative process and public sector programs to change public policy and perception about addiction treatment.

FIVE MEMBERSHIP CATEGORIES

You can join IAAP through one of five categories. Counseling (full), Associate, Student, Organization and Founding Organizational membership. Counseling members can access the full range of professional benefits. Associate and student memberships provide a reduced package of benefits and present an opportunity for new and allied addiction service professionals to join the largest association focusing on the needs and agenda of addiction professionals. Student membership is intended for those who are working toward qualification, certification or licensure.
